

The Forests Dialogue

STEERING COMMITTEE MEMBER

Andrey Kushlin

Andrey Kushlin is an international development specialist and program leader with over twenty years of professional experience in natural resource and environment management and governance at the World Bank. He brings this experience to his current position as Deputy Director of Forestry Policy and Resources at the FAO Forestry Department.

Andrey's work has included full project cycle experience in public investment projects, multi-sectoral program design, organizational development and management of corporate flagship programs, institutional and policy analysis, capacity development, policy dialogue, multi-stakeholder dialogue, aligning different interests, identifying and catalyzing client-oriented innovative solutions, and technical skills in environmental impact assessments, forest inventory and resource assessments, and geospatial/remote sensing analysis and mapping.

Title: Deputy Director of Forestry Policy and Resources

Organization: Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) Forestry Department

Location: Italy

Nationality: Russian

Contact: andrey.kushlin@fao.org

SC Since: 2017