

The Forests Dialogue

STEERING COMMITTEE MEMBER

Werner Kornexl

Werner Kornexl, an Austrian national, was recently appointed as the Manager of the Program on Forests at the World Bank. Werner joined the World Bank in 2000 as a Private Sector Development Specialist in the Brazil Country Office where he worked on forest landscapes, climate change and renewable energy. Subsequently, Werner helped to establish the Forest Carbon Partnership Facility.

Most recently, Werner has been the Environment Coordinator in Indonesia, where he has led the preparation of a landscape approach for Indonesia's land and forest sectors. Before Werner joined the World Bank he worked for the Brazilian Environmental Agency and several private companies engaged in the production of timber and non-timber forest products in the Brazilian Amazon.

Werner holds a Master of International Commerce (Vienna) and studied Environmental Economics at Fundacao Getulio Vargas, Sao Paulo.

Title: Program Manager

Organization: The World Bank - Profor

Location: United States

Nationality: Austrian

Contact: wkornexl@worldbank.org

SC Since: 2016