- b. Participatory Process.

How to build capacity and coherent strategies for addressing root issues at each level.

National Level: needs to be more operational, how to achieve goals? Strengthening action plan...needs to be operational not virtual. NAMA and REDD could bring strength.

Territories. How to internalize

Local level: education, project development, local discussion.

Diagnostic of problem: drivers at state level. Needs participation from actors.

State Level, Multi-stakeholder, forum with decision making capacity

- Need a multi-sectorial approach in each state; bringing together all the players. Extractivists, private sector, government, and civil society. To share their action plans, experiences and priorities of REDD readiness; develop strategic plans and ID synergies. Para as Pioneer?
- Many differences between States also in respect to 'readiness'

=Alliance of People in the Forest: 2000 organizations represented. Always negotiating with Fed, but there are not solutions

4. How to get policies into Practice...

Federal Level: robust legislation exists for fighting deforestation.
 (States just feed into it)

Brazil legislation state and fed. Fed level (Ministry of Env, municipalities, investment.) organizing titles, and other actions. Enforcement is happening. How to avoid deforestation – there is federal plan against deforestation, very encompassing, citizenship, financing, family agricultural, land titles.

Conversely: if its all happening on fed level, it doesn't exist in Amazon

Federal Plan, can be a mechanism for REDD. At each stage, civil society should have a voice.

No position at Fed for stakeholder engagement? Prot. Areas program – no one asks people in Amazon.

Many laws can be beneficial or barrier to REDD.
